BY THE

COOK BOOK COMMITTEE

1918

The women of Pennsylvania and the American Nation have contributed much and have sacrificed much to help win the war that is being waged to guarantee the safety of American homes and permanency of American institutions, but more will be demanded before we can hope for victory, as much perhaps as has been demanded in England and France where the women of gentle birth are working in the fields and factories to relieve men needed at the front. When our crisis comes, the patriotism of American women will prove them equally worthy of the sons and brothers who are fighting and dying to keep them safe; but for the immediate present there is no more important war activity in which women may engage than the careful conservation of our food supply which is altogether inadequate to the needs of our own men and our allies at the fighting front unless we drastically modify our own use of such exportable staples as wheat, meat, sugar and animal fats. This is one of the ways by which our patriotic women may put love of country above all personal consideration.

HOWARD HEINZ,
Federal Food Administrator of Pennsylvania.

A nation in war assumes for its women burdens just as great as those borne by its men. She is called into workshops, offices, and to the farm to do the work of the husband or son who is taken to bear arms in behalf of his country. She follows the army to care for the wounded and give comfort to the dying. Nowhere is her service more effective and indispensable in such critical times than in the conservation and scientific planning of the food we eat.

A serious shortage of food is one of the sure results of war. In this war we are called upon not only to feed our own people, but we have assumed the responsibility of providing that which is needed to be added to the greatly depleted supply of those engaged with us in the war.

Our country possesses the most bountiful variety of foodstuffs. To us our allies turn—on the verge of starvation. Of our bounty we must so choose as to release for use abroad the urgently needed concentrated foodstuffs. The choosing is the task and privilege of our devoted women.

I commend, therefore, the use of the conservation recipes in this book and urge that in the other recipes a careful scientific substitution be practiced, at least in the present world emergency. By so doing you will furnish food for many an empty mouth and shivering body.

W. D. GEORGE,
Federal Food Administrator for Allegheny County.
March 30, 1918.

Today one rarely hears it said that "A woman's place is in the home," for if the women of England and France had practiced this old adage, the war would already be lost. However, there is no doubt that a woman's war work, whatever form it may take, should commence in the home, in conserving the health of her children, and conserving those foodstuffs which are most needed by our soldiers and allies. No matter how many days a week American women may give to selling Liberty Bonds or war saving stamps, to making bandages, sweaters or socks, their efforts will be in vain, if they have not done their part toward feeding those who fight for them. The time has passed when we can plead ignorance of the demands of the Food Administration, and I think the time will come when the woman who, through laziness or selfishness, fails to obey those demands, will be considered (and rightly) just as much of a "slacker" as the man who tries to evade the call for service.

Much has been done by the women of Pittsburgh during the first year of the war, but far more must be done before we shall have won the war. The time is at hand when the great question for each of us must be, "How can I order my life today that I may be of service in shortening this conflict?" How can I arrange my meals and manage my household so that I am using only such amounts of wheat, meat, sugar and animal fats as are a bare necessity?" To such a task we may well dedicate ourselves on this, the anniversary of our entrance into the war.

MRS. ALEXANDER J. BARRON,

Director of Food Conservation for Allegheny Co. Woman's Committee, Council of National Defense.

April 6, 1918.

A RECIPE FOR GOOD HUMOR.

"Take twenty-four hours; mix thoroughly with the milk of human kindness; add spice of life to suit taste, a little discretion, some common sense; knead with the hand of friendship and bake in the open hearth of love; do not allow it to cool too quickly by trouble, or become sour by affliction; serve with generous sauce and a bright smile."

2 eggs, whites
A few drops of lemon extract

(Mrs. Frederic I. Merrick)

"POPCORN HAS POWER."

Popcorn is very valuable as a food. Give the children popcorn balls made with honey or corn syrup. The children will be happy and satisfied, and you will be helping your country by saving on other sweets.

PUFFED RICE WAR CANDY

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
1 tablespoon vinegar
Boil for 5 minutes
Add piece of butter size of egg
3 tablespoonsful molasses
½ teaspoon salt
Boil until drops hard in water.

Mix puffed rice previously heated in hot syrup, spread on buttered pans to cool.

STUFFED DATES

Select nice, solid dates. Seed and fill with any preferred nuts. Dip in maple sugar.

MAPLE FONDANT

Boil any desired quantity of maple sugar (1 pt. makes about ¾ lb) until it rolls into a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Pour out on large platter or marble slab. Beat with spoon until it can be handled, then knead until it is soft and creamy.

If the fondant is not to be used immediately, place it in a covered vessel and keep it in refrigerator or some cool place until needed.

Maple fondant is made and used exactly like the regular fondant made from white sugar, and like the white, can be made up in numerous ways:

Stuffed Figs—Dates, or any candied or preserved fruits.

Loaf—Made by kneading into a small loaf or fondant chopped nuts, seedless raisins, or chopped dried or candied fruits and slicing it with sharp knife.

Creams—Shape round or oval as desired and garnish with nuts, etc.

Wafers—Remelt fondant in double boiler and drop on oiled paper.

Cream Covered—Grapes, strawberries, nuts, etc., are made by dipping in the fondant that has been remelted in double boiler.

Balls—Shape fondant in balls and roll in finely chopped nuts, cocoanut, etc.

"EAT NATURAL SWEETS IN PLACE OF CANDY."

Eat dates and figs and other sweet fruits. Eat maple sugar and honey, where you can get it, instead of candy.

MAPLE COCOANUT BALLS

1 fresh cocoanut (grated finely) 1 lb. Maple Sugar

Cook maple sugar in the milk from the cocoanut (if milk does not measure a full cup add a little water). When the candy rolls into a soft ball when dropped in cold water, remove from stove and beat until creamy.

Add ⅔ of grated cocoanut and stir lightly until well mixed with candy, pour immediately on large platter or slab until it is cool enough to handle. Knead into soft uniform consistency and roll into balls about the size of a large marble. As each ball is finished roll it in the remaining grated cocoanut. Lay balls on platter or oiled paper to harden.

Dry shredded cocoanut may be used if the fresh cannot be obtained (the flavor is not nearly so good) and the sugar cooked in a cup of water or milk.

CHOCOLATE MAPLE FUDGE

1 lb. Maple Sugar
1 cup milk
½ cake Baker's Chocolate
Few drops of vanilla if desired

Boil milk and sugar until candy rolls into soft ball, when dropped in cold water. When about half done add chocolate, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Just before removing from fire add vanilla. Beat until creamy and pour out in greased pan to harden. When about half cooled cut into squares with a hot knife.

These are just "Mary Elizabeth's" recipes, simplified so as to be possible for the amateur who does not have a candy thermometer or the many appliances which the professional candy maker uses.

Preserved Fruits

FRESH PEACHES

Wash and boil jars and lids. Peal peaches, cut in halves, place in jars. Boil syrup, proportion, 1½ cups of sugar to 3 cups of water.

Pour syrup over fruit, filling jars. Put lids on without screwing tight. Set in boiler with water to shoulder of jar. Boil until the peaches are tender. Have kettle of water boiling on the stove. Lift jars out of boiler, dip rubber bands in boiling water for a minute, put on jars, fill to overflowing with the boiling syrup and screw lids tight. Do not have more than 1 jar open at a time.

In doing a small amount of fruit, or when working alone, it is better to do a few jars at a time. Then while filling 2 jars the syrup is boiling. Before starting to fill the third jar set both kettles off the fire. By the time the third jar is filled, the syrup and cooked fruit are both cool enough to handle.

Plums and small fruits, except blackberries, may be done this way.

It is not necessary to place fruit in cold water to keep from discoloring as when hot syrup is poured on, it takes away any discoloration.

PEARS AND QUINCES

Sterilize jars and lids.

Prepare fruit and boil in plenty of water until tender. Remove fruit from kettle, measure liquid and sweeten in proportion of 1 cup sugar to 3 cups liquid. Boil syrup 10 minutes. Put fruit in syrup and boil 10 minutes.

Fill jars and set in boiler with water to shoulder of jars. Rubber and lids must be on, but lids not screwed down.

Cover jars with clean cloth (several thicknesses) and cook for an hour. Remove from boiler and tighten tops.

Put in glasses. Serve with ice cream or ices for dessert. (Mrs. Gilliford B. Sweeny)

Wash and stem Concord grapes, cover with water, scald and strain. To each quart of juice, add one quart of water, one cup of sugar; let come to boiling point; bottle and seal. seal.

GRAPE BUTTER

Take remaining pulp and wash through sieve, about ¾ cup water to 2 cups pulp. To each cup of pulp, add same amount of sugar. Mix well and cook slowly until thick, stirring often. This butter requires much less cooking than peach or apple.

GRAPE JUICE FOR FREEZING

Take the pulp left in the sieve and add more water, boil and strain. Add equal parts sugar. Boil about 5 minutes making a syrup for freezing.

GRAPE JUICE

Select fresh Concord grapes—wash, stem, and place in vessel with very little water, just enough to start grapes cooking.

Cook until soft, strain through cheese cloth and let stand until settled. Pour off, return to stove add small amount of sugar, taking care not to sweeten too much as more can be added as desired. Barely let come to boil. Pour into hot sterilized bottles or jars and seal. Serve with crushed ice. Water can be added.

CANNED RHUBARB

Prepare and stew as for ordinary table use, but cook a shorter time and use half as much sugar and a very small amount of water. Put in sterilized jars and seal. When used, sugar may be added to taste.

CANNED PEACHES

CANNED PEARS

CANNED SWEET APPLES

Pare and cut in halves, barely cover with hot water, cook until tender, place in sterilized jars standing in hot water.

Put jars in very slightly heated oven with oven door partly open. Leave for 1 hour. Remove and seal.

CANNED YELLOW RASPBERRIES

Make a rich syrup and keep hot. Select perfect berries, wash and stem. Place in sterilized jars, pour hot syrup over berries, filling jar. Place lid on jar, do not seal tight at first. Put jars in very slightly heated oven with oven door partly open. Leave for 2 or 3 hours. Remove and seal.

Red raspberries and grapes may be canned in same way.

(Mrs. S. A. Pickering)

CHERRIES FOR PIE

Seed by hand and carefully prepare sour red cherries, in proportion of ¾ fruit to ¼ sugar. Let both simmer until they boil, then cook rapidly for about ten minutes. Put in sterilized jars and seal.

ADDITION OF SALT TO PEACHES AND PLUMS

The addition of salt to peaches and plum preserves gives a richness of flavor that the fruit seems to lack when preserved.

TO TEST FRUIT FOR PECTIN

Some fruits are lacking in pectin, the component which is necessary to make them "jell." To test fruit juices for the necessary amount of pectin, add a small amount of a 15 per cent solution of grain alcohol to an equal amount of the fruit juice. If mixture remains clear, it will not "jell," but if it becomes murky when cooled, it has sufficient pectin. Fruits that lack it, very often are supplied with a sufficient amount of pectin by adding a medium sliced carrot to every quart of juice. The carrots do not affect the taste.

Putting up Vegetables

THE SUCCESS LIES IN SANITARY PRECAUTIONS AND THOROUGH STERILIZING

JARS

Use Atlas or Ball Mason Jars. These should be in perfect condition, no nicks around mouth, an even thread at neck, so that lid can screw perfectly tight.

INSPECTION

Should be thorough, and imperfect jars discarded. Many are rough around edge at opening; file off parts extending over edge, which might prevent lid from screwing tight.

WASHING

Thoroughly cleanse by making a very hot soapy water. Put a little water in each jar, with a small amount of baking soda to sweeten. Wash in the suds, rinse several times in clear hot water. Fill jar with clear cold water, place in boiler. Then fill boiler with cold water to half the depth of jar. When it starts to boil let it continue until jars are thoroughly sterilized, about twenty minutes to a half hour. Turn out the fire, leaving jars in boiler until ready to use them. Take out a jar at a time to fill.

WATER

Distilled or boiled water should be used for cooking.

TO BOIL OR STERILIZE WATER

Place in clean vessel necessary amount of cold water. Let boil a few minutes; after which remove from the stove, cover, and let get cold.

RUBBER BANDS

Use thick white bands. These should be dipped in hot water and dried as used.

LIDS

Should be perfect, in most cases, new. Cleanse by washing, same as jars. Place on stove in vessel of cold water, let boil, take from boiling water as used. Shake lids in order to get all the water out. Do not dry.

PREPARING VEGETABLES

Beans, peas and carrots should be prepared as for the table.

Beets should be pared like potatoes. If small, leave whole; if large, cut in two or four pieces.

Corn should be cut off the ear.

Tomatoes: Scald, remove skin, and quarter.

String beans should not be cut. Snap or break. Very young beans can be put up whole.

Beans too old to be tender left on the vine until ready to shell, should be put up like peas or lima beans. So prepared they are delicious and afford a good substitute for potatoes.

CORN

Cut from cob. Take jar from boiling water, empty, put into it two tablespoons of corn. Take a large cob from which corn has been cut, press corn in jar with this until milk comes out. Keep putting in the corn and pressing it down in this manner until the jar is full, at which time the corn will be covered with its own milk. Place rubber band and lid on jar, put in boiler and steam the same as other vegetables. Corn will sometimes steam out around the lid; but this does no harm, it can be washed off after lid is screwed tight, just before applying sealing wax.

TOMATOES

Prepare, cook on top of stove from one to two hours, according to amount; after they have cooked some time, season well with salt. Cook the water out. This makes them quite strong, but water can be added before using.

PUTTING VEGETABLES IN JARS

When prepared, wash thoroughly in two or three waters. Take jars from boiler one at a time, as required. Empty the water, and fill immediately with the thoroughly washed vegetables. Put in the salt, then fill the jar with distilled or sterilized water, place rubber band on jar, then the lid. Do not screw too tight—just enough to keep in the steam when boiling.

When all jars are removed from boiler, empty any water which may be left. Place filled jars back in boiler and fill it with cold water, within one inch of the rubber band. Put lid on boiler and steam the required time with just enough fire to keep an even boiling point. Time is counted from the moment the water in boiler begins to boil, not from the time it was put on the stove. When finished, turn out the fire, remove lid from boiler to let out the steam and screw lids as tight as possible while jars are still in the boiler. Lift out one at a time with perfectly sterile tea towels, place on table, screw lids still tighter. When all jars are removed from the boiler go over them again and again and make sure lids are tight.. Keep rubber band, which the heat has probably softened, well under lid all around so that it does not slip out, while the lid is being screwed. When lids are tight paste with red sealing wax as a further safeguard.

"GOVERNMENT SUGGESTION"

To retain natural color blanching may be added to the process for putting up vegetables.

To blanch: After vegetables are prepared and thoroughly washed, place in cheese cloth. Dip into boiling water for 2 or 3 minutes, then in ice cold water, after which place immediately into hot sterilized jar.

Refer to "Putting Vegetables in Jar."

SEALING WAX

Place in a can red sealing wax, let melt and apply to jar while both are hot. Use an old casement knife for putting on the wax. Seal all around lid, covering both edges of the rubber band and the lid.

BOILER

Regular wash boiler,—new one used only for the purpose. Select one with a tight-fitting lid so as to keep in the steam. Have a wooden rack (slat or lattice) made to fit bottom of boiler.. In this way one can steam from twelve to sixteen jars at a time. It is preferable for this reason to the regular steamer.

PUTTING JARS IN BOILER

Place upon rack in boiler so that they do not touch each other. Otherwise they are likely to crack.

LENGTH OF TIME FOR STEAMING

*Peas, 2 to 2½ hours
*Lima Beans, 2½ to 3 hours
*String beans, 3 hours
*Shelled Beans, 3 hours
Carrots, 2½ to 3 hours
Beets, 3 hours
Corn, 2½ to 3 hours

*¼ teaspoonful of salt to pint jar
No salt

IMPORTANT

When jars are filled and sealed, do not turn upside down or tip in the least. As far as possible keep contents from coming in contact with lid during process of applying sealing wax, marking, etc.

When finished, wrap jars in paper, still keeping them upright. Put away in cool, dark place.

Please note that vegetables put up in this way are kept pure. No acids or foreign substances being used, except the salt, which is only used in those mentioned.

These recipes have been successfully tried for several years with gratifying results. The writer does not hesitate to recommend them if followed to the letter.

(Mrs. S. A. Pickering)

DRIED CORN

Cook on cob as for table. Cut from cob, spread rather thin on pie, biscuit or cake pans, set in oven which has been previously used and is still hot, but with no fire. It can also be placed on any part of the range where it will dry but not cook. Stir occasionally so that it will dry thoroughly. When perfectly dry place in clean muslin bag. Corn which has been boiled for the table can be utilized in this way.

HOW TO COOK DRIED CORN

Soak 1 cup of corn over night. Place in double boiler, cover with water, cook about 4 hours, season to taste.

Corn soup is made in same manner by adding water, milk or cream. If made without milk or cream, season and thicken to taste. Serve with whipped cream and a sprinkling of pop corn.

A corn pudding may be made with the corn after soup is strained off.

Fruits may be dried in like manner, omitting cooking.

Miscellaneous

SUET (Rendered for Frying)

3 lbs. kidney suet — 2 cups boiling water

Cut suet into small pieces, put in large frying pan, add water. Cover and let boil slowly until it stops bubbling and begins to smoke, then place over a very slow fire for about 15 minutes. Strain in a kettle through several thicknesses of cheese cloth, stand away until wanted for use. This is better than lard for all deep frying as well as sauteing.

(Mrs. D. L. Gillespie)

BUTTER

1 pt. milk — 1 lb. of diced butter

Place in churn, put on the top and let stand in luke warm water 5 minutes or until mixture feels slightly warm to the hand. Remove churn from the water and churn about 3 minutes. This makes 2 pounds of sweet butter.

If you prefer, salt may be added.

(Mrs. W. C. Carroll)

PACKING BUTTER FOR WINTER USE

Buy best creamery butter in early September. Knead about a pound or two at a time as you would bread in a wooden bowl, pouring water off as it is worked out. After all has been taken out pack a pound or pound and a half as you wish, in old muslin cloths about 12 inches square, putting butter in center, turning up opposite corners, being careful that butter is well covered. After all has been packed in cloths, make a salt brine strong enough to float an egg, of table salt and ice water. Then put an old plate on bottom of stone crock. Pack your squares of butter. Then a plate on top with a heavy stone on it. Then pour the salt brine over all and keep in cool place, well covered. Change brine every four weeks. (Mrs. H. A. Ross)

PACKING EGGS FOR WINTER USE—No. 1

½ pt. coarse salt — 8 qts. of sterilized water
½ fresh slacked lime

Mix the ingredients the day before, stirring occasionally so that the lime and salt are dissolved. Place a plate, bottom side up, on bottom of an 8 gallon stone crock and drop eggs as you wish, or all at a time, keeping well covered. This will take care of 15 dozens.

No. 2

One quart of silicate of soda or water glass, nine quarts of sterilized water.

Mix and stir thoroughly before dropping eggs in crock, point down. Keep well covered. This will take care of 15 dozens in an 8 gallon crock. Any egg floating on top should be taken out as it is not absolutely fresh, and will not keep.

BAKING POWDER

1 lb. corn starch
1 lb. cream of tartar
1 lb. soda

Sift 25 times through flour sifter. Keep air tight.

(Mrs. C. I. McKee)

SILVER CLEANER

Use an enameled or granite pan with inner surface without a flaw exposing the metal, and of a size suitable for the silver to be cleaned in it.

Have a piece of pure zinc large enough to cover, or nearly cover, the bottom of the pan. To every 4 quarts of clear water add 3 tablespoons each of salt and of baking soda.

Let this solution become hot and then lay in the silver, allowing it to remain about 10 minutes. Take out, rinse in clear water, and wipe with a soft towel.

If the water is not deep enough to cover the large pieces they can be laid on one side for a few minutes, and then the other side submerged.

(Mrs. H. C. Newcomer)

BRASS POLISH

5c worth tripoli
5c worth oxalic acid
1 qt. cold water

Place in a quart bottle and shake. Apply with flannel cloth.

WHITE SOAP—No. 1

Put 5 pounds of fat into large kettle with a gallon of water. Heat until grease is entirely melted. Set aside until cold, when grease will be hard. Take the grease cake from top of water, scrape off any brown particles, place into kettle to melt. Into a granite pan put 3 cups of cold water and stir into this 1 can Red Seal or Babbitt's Lye. Stir with wooden spoon until dissolved. Remove grease from fire and pour slowly into the lye water, stirring constantly. Add 2 tablespoons ammonia and 2 tablespoons powdered borax. Stir mixture constantly until it begins to set about as thick as honey. Pour into pan lined with several thicknesses of wet paper. Cut into cakes when hard enough.

This makes 12 cakes. Keep for a month or longer before using.

WHITE SOAP—No. 2

5 lbs. clarified fat
1½ qts. cold water
1 can lye
1½ teaspoon borax
½ cup ammonia

TOILET SOAP

1 lb. cottonseed oil
¾ lb. white lard
10 teaspoons lye
10 drops lavender and oil of geranium

Melt lard in oil, add lye, and when cool, add the scent. Stir constantly to make soap smooth.

MAKE SOAP OF FAT UNFIT FOR COOKING

Use lye made by letting water drip slowly through wood ashes, or buy lye in cans. Use porcelain or enamel dish. Dissolve 1 can lye in 1 quart cold water. Melt 5 pounds fat in separate dish. Strain through 2 thicknesses of cheese cloth. Cool till luke warm. Add dissolved, cooled lye. Stir until mixture is like porridge. Pour quickly into shallow pasteboard boxes or dripping pan. When cool, crease into cakes. Cut when nearly cold.

DON'T WASTE ANY SOAP

Save pieces of soap too small to handle, melt them in a little water over a slow fire, use in washing dishes or boiling clothes.

Put all bits of soap into a cheese cloth bag. It can be used like a cake of soap.

A little salt rubbed on the cups will take out tea stains.

When fish are fresh the skin and scales will be bright, the eyes full and clear, the fins stiff, and the body firm.

When making juicy fruit or berry pies, insert in the top crust a small funnel of paper, or a piece of macaroni, which allows the steam to escape and prevents the juice boiling over.

Berry and fruit stains can be removed easily by holding the cloth tightly over the top of a bowl and pouring boiling water very slowly through the stains. Remove grease stains by saturating the spots with alcohol rather than benzine. Alcohol does not leave a ring around the spot when dry. Wash with cold water.

To remove ink stains from the fingers moisten them with warm water, then rub the sulphur end of a match well over the stains and they will disappear.

White spots on a varnished surface will disappear if a hot flat iron is held over them for a second.

To clean wire screens dampen a cotton cloth with kerosene and rub on both sides. They will look like new and it also helps to keep the flies away.

If you wish to keep your desserts right on the ice, place a newspaper over the ice, and the dishes will not slip off or tip over.

Lemons that have become hard from long standing can be made usable by covering them with boiling water for a few minutes.

Heat a lemon thoroughly before squeezing it and you will secure nearly double the quantity of juice that you would if it were not heated.

Apples will not turn black when pared if dropped into water to which has been added a few drops of lemon juice.

Remember when putting meat in the ice chest not to place it against the ice, as ice draws the flavor from meat.

A few drops of lemon juice or vinegar added to the water in which cauliflower is to be cooked will greatly preserve its whiteness.

To hasten the baking of potatoes let them stand a few minutes in warm water after washing them.

If by mistake you get the soup too salty add a few slices of raw potatoes and cook a few minutes. The potatoes will take up much of the surplus salt. Small pieces of toasted bread will also have the same effect.

A few drops of lemon juice makes cake frosting white, and a little flour put over the top of a cake will prevent the icing from running.

Meringue should be browned in a slow oven, otherwise it will fall when exposed to the air.

When frying chickens or fish, to avoid the grease spattering, sift in a tiny lot of flour just before putting them in.

A bit of sugar dissolved in the water in which cut flowers are kept is an English way of keeping the blossoms fresh.

RULES FOR SUBSTITUTION

The Food Administration of Allegheny County suggests the following general rules for use by those persons who wish to adapt the standard recipes to war time conditions by substituting for the food elements which are desired for export the substitutes recommended by the Food Administration. These substitutes fall in three general classes.

(1) Corn syrup, molasses or soft sugars instead of granulated sugar.

(2) Vegetable fats instead of butter or lard.

(3) Cereal substitute flours and meals instead of wheat flour.

(1) In substituting for granulated sugar in standard recipes, corn syrup may be substituted for one-half of the granulated sugar by measure, reducing the other liquids in the recipe by ¼ to ½ of the amount of corn syrup used. If syrup is used to furnish all the sweetening, it makes an undesirably heavy product. Raisins, citron and other fruits can be used to furnish a portion of the sweetness. In using molasses and maple syrup, follow the same rule.

Soft light brown sugars may of course be used in the place of the granulated sugar in equal measure, making a slight allowance for the small liquid content in the soft sugars.

(2) Vegetable fats may be substituted for butter in biscuits and muffins in the proportion of one to two tablespoons of vegetable oil or hardened vegetable fats for each ¼ cup of butter. In substituting for lard, use an equal quantity of vegetable oil or hardened vegetable fats.

(3) With some care and thought the various flour and cereal substitutes may be substituted for a large portion of the flour in the standard recipes. (Instead of endeavoring to change bread recipes, tested bread recipes containing the proper mixtures should be secured. A higher percentage of the substitutes can properly be used in "Quick Breads," particularly where eggs are used. In baking, the gluten in wheat hardens and makes the mass porous. To a certain extent, eggs in "Quick Breads," where substitutes are used for wheat, accomplish the same object.)

Substitute cereal flours and meals may be substituted successfully, pound for pound, for most of the wheat flour in "Quick Bread" recipes, such as muffins, biscuits, griddle cakes, waffles, etc. As the housewife does not make her recipes by weight, however, but by measure, it is necessary to indicate the amount by measure of the cereal flours and meals which should be used. The following is an illustration of the proper proportion of substitution in a standard recipe calling for two cups of wheat flour.

INSTEAD OF TWO (2) CUPS OF WHEAT FLOUR USE

(1) Barley muffins—½ cup wheat flour, 2¼ cups barley flour.

(2) Buckwheat muffins—½ cup wheat flour, 1¼ cups buckwheat flour.

(3) Corn muffins—½ cup wheat flour, 1½ cups corn flour.

(4) Cornmeal muffins—½ cup wheat flour, 1½ cups cornmeal (fine)
Cornmeal muffins—½ cup wheat flour, 1⅓ cups cornmeal (coarse)

(5) Rice muffins—½ cup wheat flour, 1⅓ cups rice meal (coarse)

The important thing is to observe the varying proportions of the different flours and meals.

Note that the amount of wheat flour plus the amount of substitute flour does not always equal the two cups of wheat flour in the Standard recipe on account of the varying weights per cup of the suggested substitutes.

If it is desired to use cooked cereals in making muffins, griddle cakes or waffles, it would be best to follow the recipes in any standard cook book with the proper substitution suggested above for butter and sugar.
